Market Technical Outlook

The Nifty opened on a subdued note initially witness upside momentum which was short lived and selling pressure dragged down nifty to close with minor losses. On the daily chart, we are observing two consecutive a high wave “Doji” candle with higher high. Further, we are observing that 23275 – 23397 is major supply zone. In coming trading session if nifty trades above 23100 then it may test 23150 – 23230 levels. On the downside, 22930 – 22870 levels may act as support for the day.

We still maintain our stance that as long as nifty holds 22798 there is high probability of double bottom pattern forming. Hence, one needs to adopt cautiously positive approach at current level as stock specific activity may continue.
