Market Technical Outlook

The Nifty opened higher and traded with a positive bias throughout the day, ultimately closing in the green. On the daily chart, the index has closed decisively above the downward gap area formed on 13th June 2025 (24,825–24,754) and has reclaimed both the 10-day and 20-day SMAs (24,881 and 24,838 respectively), indicating a continuation of the upward momentum. In the upcoming trading session, if the Nifty sustains above 24,975, it may attempt to test the levels of 25,050 to 25,145. On the downside, the zone between 24,835 and 24,780 is expected to act as a strong support.

With the index currently trading above both the 10-day and 21-day SMAs (24,825 and 24,745), the broader sentiment remains bullish. Therefore, a positive approach is warranted at current levels, with stock-specific activity likely to persist.
