Market Technical Outlook

The Nifty opened on a positive note but was unable to sustain the initial gains, as selling pressure dragged the index to close in the red. On the daily chart, prices faced resistance near the 25,170 mark (10-day SMA), making a high of 25,182 before settling marginally above the 50-day SMA, which is placed at 25,048. A narrow-range body candle has formed, indicating indecision and caution at current levels. In the upcoming trading session, if Nifty trades below 25,048, it may drift lower towards 24,950 – 24,865. On the upside, the zone of 25,160 – 25,245 may act as immediate resistance.

We continue to view the 24,982 – 24,733 range as a crucial support zone, from where buying interest is likely to emerge. Meanwhile, stock-specific action is expected to dominate market trends.
